10 easy décor tips

Dr. George C. Ferguson

You can't see the forest for the trees. That's the problem with the current debate about the future of the U.S. economy. The focus is on the details of the economic recovery, not on the big picture. The big picture is that the U.S. economy is in a state of crisis. The crisis is not just the high unemployment rate, but the fact that the economy is not growing. The economy is not growing because of the high interest rates, the high taxes, and the high inflation. The economy is not growing because of the lack of investment in research and development, the lack of investment in education, and the lack of investment in infrastructure. The economy is not growing because of the lack of innovation, the lack of entrepreneurship, and the lack of competition. The economy is not growing because of the lack of leadership, the lack of vision, and the lack of courage. The economy is not growing because of the lack of faith, the lack of hope, and the lack of love. The economy is not growing because of the lack of trust, the lack of respect, and the lack of dignity. The economy is not growing because of the lack of justice, the lack of equality, and the lack of freedom. The economy is not growing because of the lack of peace, the lack of harmony, and the lack of unity. The economy is not growing because of the lack of love, the lack of compassion, and the lack of mercy. The economy is not growing because of the lack of kindness, the lack of gentleness, and the lack of patience. The economy is not growing because of the lack of self-control, the lack of discipline, and the lack of perseverance. The economy is not growing because of the lack of integrity, the lack of honesty, and the lack of truthfulness. The economy is not growing because of the lack of humility, the lack of modesty, and the lack of simplicity. The economy is not growing because of the lack of generosity, the lack of giving, and the lack of sharing. The economy is not growing because of the lack of service, the lack of help, and the lack of support. The economy is not growing because of the lack of love, the lack of compassion, and the lack of mercy. The economy is not growing because of the lack of kindness, the lack of gentleness, and the lack of patience. The economy is not growing because of the lack of self-control, the lack of discipline, and the lack of perseverance. The economy is not growing because of the lack of integrity, the lack of honesty, and the lack of truthfulness. The economy is not growing because of the lack of humility, the lack of modesty, and the lack of simplicity. The economy is not growing because of the lack of generosity, the lack of giving, and the lack of sharing. The economy is not growing because of the lack of service, the lack of help, and the lack of support.
